

Contents of Volume 22

Van Hook, J.V.W., F.D. Bean and J.E. Glick, The development and assessment of census-based measures of AFDC and SSI reciprocity	1
Galvez, J. and C. McLarty, Measurement of Florida temporary residents using a telephone survey	25
Sharpe, D.L. and M. Abdel-Ghany, Discrimination due to race and gender in the youth labor market: is it a double jeopardy?	43
Hwang, J.C., A theory of measuring fixed capital flows and stocks	57
Information for authors	81
Fleming, M., J.S. Jordan and K.M. Lang, The impact of measurement error in the U.S. National Income and Product Accounts on forecasts of GNP and its components	89
Paulin, G.D. and D.L. Ferraro, Do expenditures explain income? A study of variables for income imputation	103
Hogan, T.D. and D.N. Steinnes, Arizona Sunbirds and Minnesota Snowbirds: two species of the elderly seasonal migrant genus	129
Corder, L.S. and K.G. Manton, Recent nursing home data: a multivariate analysis of two-repeated cross-sectional surveys of the institutionalized aged	141
Cohen, S.B. and D.E.B. Potter, An estimation strategy for the combined population represented by the NMES household and nursing home surveys	161
Howrey, E.P., Forecasting GNP with noisy data: a case study	181
Fleming, M., J.S. Jordan and K.M. Lang, Macroeconomic policy and methodological misdirection in the U.S. National Income and Product Accounts	201
Ganti, S., Economic sectoral bias in the macro-money demand function for India: some evidence	219
Adams, F.G. and Y. Chen, Skepticism about Chinese GDP growth – the Chinese GDP elasticity of energy consumption	231
Renfro, C.G., On the development of econometric modeling languages: MODLER and its first twenty-five years	241
Contributors to Articles in Volume 22	313