

Editorial

With this issue of JVR, there are several changes in the Editorial Board. Robert H. Schor has relinquished his position as a member of the Editorial Board. Izumi Koizuka also has relinquished his position on the Editorial Board. Ja-Won Koo will become a new member of the Editorial Board.

I wish to thank Dr. Schor for his hard work and dedication to the Journal of Vestibular Research. Dr. Schor served as Associate Editor from Volume 11 through Volume 9 and then continued his service to the Journal as a member of the Editorial Board to the present time. Dr. Schor has earned well-deserved thanks from the Journal of Vestibular Research, IOS Press, and the vestibular research community.

Dr. Izumi Koizuka has served on the Editorial Board of the Journal of Vestibular Research since Volume 11. Dr. Koizuka has been especially helpful with the efforts of the Journal of Vestibular Research to encourage authors from Japan to submit scientific articles.

Our newest Editorial Board member, Dr. Ja-Won Koo, is an otolaryngologist with a background and special interest in vestibular function. Dr. Koo enhances the international representation on our Editorial Board.

I also wish to thank each and every member of the Editorial Board of JVR for their work maintaining and improving the quality of the Journal. Editorial Board members regularly are asked to assist with the peer review process and to advocate for the Journal. Their efforts are very much appreciated.

And finally, I wish to thank all those members of the vestibular research community who have volunteered their time to review manuscripts submitted to JVR. Their efforts enable JVR to continue as a peer-reviewed forum devoted exclusively to vestibular research.
