

Biography

David H. Weinflash, Rapportage Editor

David Weinflash has followed a circuitous suboptimal path through a variety of degrees and careers to arrive at his present position as investment banker in the area of public finance at the Wall Street firm L.F. Rothschild, Unterberg, Towbin.

His duties include mathematical analysis and structuring of bond deals and development of new business opportunities in the areas of energy and related fields. Previously, he was employed at Citibank in a similar capacity.

He holds three degrees from Columbia University: BA (1964), Ph.D. (1971), MBA (1978). His Ph.D. is in physics which was his original choice of career area. He retains an interest in physics and the use and abuse of physics ideas in the social and managerial sciences.