A statement regarding the mass retraction of Iranian papers in November 2016

Aram Mokarizadeh*
Independent Researcher, Iran

Received 19 October 2022 Accepted 17 March 2023

This commentary concerns retracted papers published in Tumor Biology in 2016 [1–6] where my name was used as a co-author or the corresponding author without my knowledge or permission<sup>1</sup>.

Accordingly, the General and Revolutionary Prosecutor's Office in District 31 of Tehran received my case against Mr. J.J. for identity fraud. After a trial, appeal, and several months of investigations, the court held Mr. J.J. accountable for the forgery of data by creating and using fake email addresses attributed to reputable authors for submission of manuscripts [1–6]. The final verdicts of the Branch no.1040 of Criminal Court 2, Shahid Qodousi Judicial Complex in Tehran and appeal court of Branch no.67 of Tehran Province Court of Appeal were announced under no. 140068390008027479, issued on 05/09/2021, and no. 140168390006910053, issued on 16/08/2022, respectively.<sup>2</sup>

Disclosure

The author, Dr. Aram Mokarizadeh, takes full responsibility for the content of this letter.

Supplementary material

Court statements may be shared by the Editor-in-Chief or the editorial office of Tumor Biology upon reasonable request and with written consent of Dr. Aram Mokarizadeh.
