

From the Editor

I recently reviewed the aim and scope of WORK, since the journal is entering into its 13th year. According to the Hebrew calendar, the journal would be becoming a Bar or Bat Mitzvah, a sacred passage to adulthood. It has been my honor and pleasure to be the editor of WORK since its inception. Perhaps as its founding “parent,” I have felt the aches, pains, and joys of seeing ones child growing to maturity and striving for goals. One of these goals was to become indexed in MedLine. I am pleased to share with you that since issue 18(1), WORK can now be more easily found through this prestigious and well-known index. As a “parent”, I am indeed very proud!

I am very pleased that this issue continues to support the aims and scope of WORK. It provides highly quality peer-reviewed manuscripts covering research and clinical practice, as well as case study reports and students’ work. This issue also introduces the editor Dr. Carolyn Gatty from Chatham College in Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania in the United States to the section, Students for WORK. Under Dr. Gatty’s mentorship, we hope to encourage and expand students’ interest in publishing. Please read her introduction to this column immediately following this message. Welcome Dr. Gatty!

As always, I welcome hearing from you.

Cheers,

Karen
